Bus System Extended To Upland

San Bernardino County officials have announced the extension of the recently established San Bernardino Interim Transit Bus System to Yucaipa and Upland.

The new transit system began service between Fontana and Redlands April 9, the day after the Southern California Rapid Transit District discontinued its route 60G east of Archibald Ave.

With the extension, the new system not only covers the entire route abandoned by RTD, but also does so at a lower fare and connects with RTD in Upland providing access to the greater Los Angeles area.

The system now operates across seven zones with a charge of 20 cents plus an additional 15 cents each time the bus enters a new zone. The complete trip between Upland and Yucaipa costs $1.25. Between Upland and San Bernardino the fare is 85 cents compared with $1.02 charged by RTD and between Yucaipa and San Bernardino the fare is 65 cents compared with 85 cents charged by RTD.

The new service is an expansion of the San Bernardino Municipal Transit System providing hourly service to Fontana, Rialto, San Bernardino, Loma Linda and Redlands with the first bus leaving San Bernardino at 5:30 a.m., and the last trip returning at 7:30 p.m.

Under the extension, three trips will be made per day to Upland and Yucaipa stopping in Upland at 8 a.m., noon and 4 p.m. and in Yucaipa at 9:45 a.m. and at 1:45 and 5:45 p.m.

RTD announced discontinuation of its Foothill Blvd. line following denial by the Board of Supervisors of the District's request for a subsidy out of the county's revenue from the sales tax on gasoline. The Supervisors denied the request pending completion of the comprehensive study being made of county-wide transportation needs.

It is estimated that to operate the interim service on a trial basis for 90 days it will cost $42,000 and produce $15,000 in fare revenue, leaving a $27,000 deficit. The county is, however, funding the program out of revenues received from the sales tax on gasoline and the cities being served are participating in the funding.

New Hospital Board Prexy Elected Here

Ernest A. Wagner was elected president of the San Antonio Community Hospital board of trustees last week. Also selected as officers were Harold Zenz, vice president and Milton J. Thurber, treasurer.

Four new board members were also appointed. They include: Anthony O. Arnold, Lawrence J. Parker, M.D., William E. Walk and Thomas C. Beiseker.

In addition, Jack C. George was reelected to his second three year term on the board.

$1.3 MILLION INCREASE

City Budget Jumps 24 Percent

According to the preface letter from Upland City Manager Elwin "Pinky" Alder in the Preliminary Budget for 1973-74, the budget represents a $1.3 million, or 24 percent increase over last year's fiscal budget.

However, the budget holds the present $1.80 per $100 assessed valuation tax rate.

The increase in the 1973-74 budget is accounted for largely by the planned expenditure of $765,000 for the new civic center and $60,000 for a new fire truck.

Funds for the planned $1.3 million additional expenditures will come from a variety of sources, including accumulated reserves, revenue sharing funds, gas tax income and projected increases in property tax and sales tax income.

In the preface to the nearly 300-page budget, Alder said: "Staff forecasts lead us to believe the general fund revenue Krauch in launching new Southern California Rapid Transit District bus service connecting the cities. Destinations of the new Line 146 include major shopping, municipal and county facilities.

Results Of 'Conversations' Revealed

As promised in March, a follow-up report on the results of a series of discussions during the Community Conversations was distributed by the Upland Chamber of Commerce this week.

The report details the recommendations from the five panel discussion groups. The goals were presented to government officials and others with the power to implement the community desires that were expressed at the Upland High School event.

These goals include the following:

I. Challenges of a Growing City

--More parental guidance is needed in the education system.

--Establish class grouping methods that take into consideration a child's social and academic needs.

--Consider the use of federal revenue sharing funds for the Head Start program.

--Aid the reading problems of students, create a program of prevention instead of remediation. Lay people, PTA, parents and other volunteers could work in this area with school personnel.

--Establishment of a Youth Employment office staffed by youth with an adult overseer.

II. Revenue Sharing

--Establishment of a public hearing to decide the use for future revenue sharing funds.

--Apartments are needed to house families or people of incomes insufficient to buy homes.

--Consensus was that Euclid Ave. should be commercial up to "F" St. and remain residential north of Foothill Blvd.

--Urgency was expressed for completing the Foothill Freeway through the community.

III. Environmental Crisis -- What can we do?

--Air pollution: purchase clean cars, clean gas, maintenance of smog devices with suggestion that maintenance be mandated and checked at the time of vehicle registration, encourage the use of natural gas and the conversion of all city cars to propane gas propelled vehicles.

--Land use: Continue the development of parks, especially regional parks to the east of Upland.

--Conservation of Water: development of a program of education in the intelligent use of water supplies.

--Transportation: establishment of inner-city busing.

IV. Attitudes Towards Crime

--Have the chamber schedule a program in regards to crime prevention to be presented at their general membership meeting and to have some crime prevention articles published in the monthly newsletter.

--Advise ways to prevent crime and the marking tools available at the Upland Police Department.

--Write a complimentary letter to Police and Fire Departments to let them know they are appreciated and to encourage them to keep up the good work.

--Create some type of building construction code for all types of construction that stipulates the insertion of better locks for all doors and openings.

V. Leisure Time

--Recreation facilities: The need for Upland's recreation facilities to be updated and recognized.

--Lighting the UHS tennis courts and all other existing courts. Building additional tennis courts to accommodate the growth in popularity in the sport along with additional green playing fields.

--Improve communications of cultural and athletic events. More

Additional Funds Sought For Los Olivos Project

BY Patricia Reid
Of The News Staff

Jerry G. Leggit, executive director of the Housing Authority of the City of Upland, called a special meeting last week to ask for additional modernization funds for the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) sponsored Los Olivos housing project. The four commissioners present unanimously passed a resolution calling for additional modernization funds to complete refurbishing the 100-unit housing complex.

"We're $128,000 short of meeting our budget," explained Leggit. He said the commissioners have been aware for three years of the project's actual cost. "HUD designated a certain dollar amount for the modernization program and never spelled out how the monies should be broken down into priorities," he said.

Leggit said the project has actually received a lump sum of $84,700 from HUD. He said several items weren't included in the original budget estimate for the refurbishing project and other items were estimated too low. Leggit explained that the Housing Authority was anxious to get an answer from HUD before June 30 when all federal modernization funds are scheduled to be cut off.

City attorney Donald Maroney advised the commission to deny the "excessive cost claim" by contractors Maddox and Stabler Construction Company. The commission voted to mail a letter to Maddox and Stabler claiming the excessive cost problems were not the liability of the Housing Authority.

On Jan. 22 the commissioners voted to extend the construction company's contract 81 days. The one year contract was to expire Jan. 23. On Dec. 14, 1972 Joseph Stabler presented a letter requesting renegotiation of their original contract for 81 days extension with additional payment of $100 a day or $3,022 a month for delays. The company's main points for the request for additional costs included the following:

--Tenants' refusal to move into half-modernized apartments

--Changes in inspectors, contracting officer, architects and executive directors caused problems of continuity in the supervision of construction

--Higher costs and increased time spent because of agreement in contract to employ residents of the tract

--Time delays and rising costs of materials increased subcontractors' costs.

USD Budget May Jump $170,000

The Upland School District preliminary budget for next year contains $170,000 in additional funding for classroom instruction said Glenn M. Hardy, district business manager.

City 'Reimbursed'

City staff reports that the State Highway Department reimbursed the city $6,263.89 to cover extra work as a result of extensive wind-storm damage to trees along Euclid Ave. (State Route #38).

During December and January, the city had a lot of extra work to do in cleaning up trees and brush as a result of the heavy winds. The city billed the state for these services which were considered "extra and above" the annual contract services the city provides for maintenance of the state highways.

Land Purchase Sought

Upland City Council discussed negotiations with representatives of Shell Oil Co. during executive session last week for purchase of the company's lease on property located at the southeast corner of Euclid Ave. and Arrow Highway. The Shell station is located on the corner of the future site of the new Upland Civic Center. Following the closed meeting, it was announced that the city attorney recommended the city contract for an appraisal of the lease. The council accepted the recommendation.

Belly Dancing Rolls Into City Of Upland

It's belly dancing registration time again in Upland! All you ladies who weren't in time to register for other session of the popular course can rush down to the Water Finance Dept. at 404 N. Second Ave., on Monday and be first in line to register for the summer course.

Instructor Charlene Newman has taught the dancing class for a year in Upland and all classes have quickly filled and had a waiting list. Upland Recreation Department reports that the charge of $21 for seven belly dancing lessons at Recreation Hall, 151 East D St. Contact the Recreation Dept. at 982-1352 for further information.

Instructor Newman has appeared at the Seventh Veil in Hollywood, Arabian Nights restaurant in Upland and at numerous private parties throughout Southern California.

The only equipment needed for the unique class are finger cymbals and a veil. By learning to appreciate and control their bodies, belly dance students can develop "all encompassing freedom that affects the mental, physical and spiritual being," said Mrs. Newman. She said most of her students are in the classes for figure control...it's fun to see those pounds melt away. Mrs. Newman said belly dancing can't be beat as a weight reducer. The waist, thighs, buttocks and abdomen are all tightened during the belly dance.

Weed Abatement Program Begins In West End

The Exterior Hazard Control and Weed Abatement Program has started in the communities of Alta Loma, Cucamonga and Etiwanda. All residents are urged to get an early start in the cleanup campaign.

There should be a general cleanup of piles of trash, dead trees, neglected windbreaks, dead and/or abandoned groves and dry grass and weeds. These not only create a very serious fire hazard; they are unsightly to our neighbors and do not make a favorable impression on out-of-town visitors and potential real estate buyers.

All residents and property owners are urged to clean up their properties prior to the deadline indicated on the written notices they have received from the San Bernardino County Department of Agriculture. Failure to comply with the written notices will result in a contractor being sent to clean the property and the county assessing the charges, plus a sizable administrative charge as a lien against the property.

Contact John Kwock at 987-1727, or you may contact your local fire department.

MOVIN' -- "Lelia" alias Charlene Newman, is pictured in a series of action shots during a recent belly dancing performance in Upland. 'I Was The Wildest, Clumsiest Fencer Ever'

BY PATRICIA REID

What is it that makes a life insurance salesman suddenly become totally fascinated with the ancient art of fencing?

For Uplander Joseph K. Pastorello it was nothing more complicated than observing a mask and crossed foils on display at the Upland Inn restaurant. "I was the wildest, clumsiest fencer there ever was," Pastorello modestly admits. "If I can learn to fence -- then anyone can," he said.

It was about three and a half years ago that he enrolled in a fencing class offered by the city Recreation Department under the direction of instructor George Weidmann. Weidmann is responsible for starting the very popular sport in Upland years ago and he also started the West End Fencing Club in Ontario.

Pastorello said that he's blind in his right eye, but that this has been no hindrance in his fencing success. He emphasized that anyone with desire can learn to fence -- physical condition, age, sex are no barriers.

Pastorello is now one of the city's three fencing instructors. He specializes in sabre fencing. Last June Pastorello placed second in sabre competition for his age division in the Los Angeles Athletic Club's Third Annual Senior World Fencing Championships. He's currently sharpening up his skills for this year's competition which will take place July 7 and 8.

Pastorello said fencing classes are offered continually throughout the year at the Magnolia Recreation Center. Lessons are conducted on Monday and Thursday evenings, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. The fee is $5 per month for 9-16 year olds and $8 per month for 17 year olds-adults. Registration is currently being taken at the Upland Water/Finance Dept., 404 N. Second Ave., Upland or at the class.

He said: "Fencing may be advocated as a perfect exercise for men, women and children of all ages. While rare physical qualities are required of a fencing champion, anybody at all can learn to fence well enough to derive enjoyment and benefit from the sport."

Pastorello claims that fencing will develop grace of carriage, coordination of eye, brain and muscles, plus speed of reaction.

"It will improve muscular tone, along with giving one the feeling of security based on belief of your own ability to cope with any given situation. Fencing will be a source of health and enjoyment for the rest of your life," Pastorello said.

He explained that students wear sweatshirts bearing the Coat of Arms and title: "Royal Academy of Fencing." Weidmann is responsible for creating this costume. Pastorello said fencing students are frequently asked to give free demonstrations to organizations or to appear publicly at locations such as the Kiosk in Upland Town Center. He said he'd be glad to consider any requests for demonstrations. He's currently trying to promote an "Upland Day" with fencing demonstrations at Montclair Plaza. Over 11,000 people turned out for a fencing demonstration in Upland Memorial Park last summer, he said.

The Italian instructor said women most often take to "foil" fencing which requires more finesse and less power and physical prowess than sabre fencing.

At present, he's teaching three women students the techniques of sabre fencing.

Pastorello has a collection of about 40 antique fencing swords -- some as old as 1850. He also acquired many pieces from the "Ben Hur" movie props when MGM studios sold everything. He has a collection of helmets, shields, spears, daggers and leather breastplates.

An amateur writer also, Pastorello translated his strong feelings about fencing into this poem titled "Art of Fencing."

Fencing is a most noble art
Ancient grandeur, bestowed its start

Salute the truth it shall yield
No retreat from honor or field
Your arm engarde begins the move
Into life lunge, liberates thy love.

The blade engaged will repose fear
Anger cannot hope to intrude here
When on target you will give
Touches of love, your heart lives

Your enemy foiled with honest deeds
That is what each fencer needs.

The world's treasure at fencing doors
Greeting new friends from distant shores

Help combat hate, supports our Lord
Trophies of happiness, a fencer's reward

Dogma of fencing our solemn oath
Si Deus nobiscum, quis contra nos?"
(If God be with us, who shall be against us?)

Refuse Rate To Increase In County

County supervisors recently approved an increase for disposal rates at county dumps. Rates at the Milliken Ave. site will jump from $1.40 to $1.70 per ton for normal refuse. Hard-to-handle refuse will increase from $2.50 per ton to $3.

Fees for private cars using the dump are increasing from 50 cents to $1 and disposal from pickup trucks is increasing from $1 to $1.50.

The same rates will apply for all valley area dumps.

Alta Loman Winner Of Trust Fund

Luis Mora, Alta Loma High School, and Greg Pearson, Ontario High School, were the major winners in the Chaffey Trust Fund Scholarship contest just concluded within the five Chaffey District high schools.

Mora received a $1,000 college scholarship award and Pearson $500. Scholarships of $250 were presented to Charmaine Aveling, Alta Loma High School; Karen White, Ontario High School; Charlene Tiffany and Don Outlaw, Montclair High School; Vanessa Fladland and David Steele, Chaffey High School; and Vicki Marburger and Barry Skovgaard of Upland High School.

The awards were presented by Mr. Arnold D. Anderson, member of the Chaffey Trust Fund board, at a dinner held for students and their parents May 22. Under the fund scholarship rules, two outstanding students are selected from each of the district high schools, with major criteria for selection based upon academic achievement, participation in student activities and community affairs, and potential for collegiate success.

The Chaffey Trust, established by Ontario pioneers George and William B. Chaffey, is directed by three trustees, John A. Armstrong, E. Stewart Chaffey, and Anderson. The fund has been of major assistance to the Chaffey Union High School District over the years, providing among other things, the Chaffey Memorial Library and the west 18 acres of the Chaffey campus.

The scholarship program was established December 7, 1967 and each year awards $3500 in scholarships to district students.

Safety belts, when you think about it, it's a nice way to say I love you.

West End Fire Fighters To Sponsor Flea Market

The West End Fire Fighters' Burn Service will sponsor a Flea Market and fire display, including an old fashioned tug-o-war at the Chino Fairgrounds June 23.

"We're preparing to expand our services," service president Don Morton of Upland Fire Department said, "and we need more money in our treasury."

The burn service is planning to provide ice-making machines at all West End headquarter fire stations this year as well as purchase sterilized sheets that will be interchangeable between ambulance firms, hospitals and fire departments.

Last year the Burn Service purchased a "heat shield" for the community and it is currently in use at San Antonio Community Hospital.

Morton, in explaining the purpose of the ice machines, pointed out that ice has been called the "new miracle drug" in the treatment of burn patients.

"The Burn Service decided that if fire department rescue trucks were equipped with available ice, there would be a better chance of lessening the dangers to burn victims," said Morton.

All area fire departments are expected to have their equipment on display as well as a number of outside agencies.

In addition to the static displays, West End agencies are expected to compete in a tug-o-war contest and "make and break" contest, where firemen couple and uncouple several hundred feet of hose line.

The day's events will begin at 8 a.m. at the fairgrounds, Central and Edison Aves. in Chino.

Those interested in participating in the flea market are asked to contact the Burn Service at P.O. Box 724, Upland, CA 91786, or telephone 984-5638 or 628-8086 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Flea market spaces of 8 by 10 are available for $5 each. Participants are urged to contact the State Board of Equalization in Ontario for their resale numbers.

Morton said there will be plenty of free parking, but a donation of 50 cents per adult and 25 cents for those under 15 will be asked.

on discount prices
mayfair is more fair

Mayfair is now discount. Since we are one of the last major supermarkets to go discount, we know we have to go lower than most of our competitors. And we have.

To prove to you that Mayfair's prices are lower, we make and publish price comparisons. To be fair in these comparisons, we use the U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics' item list for measuring food prices.

Obviously, Mayfair does not have the lowest price on each and every one of the 80 some items on Uncle Sam's list.

But the total cost of all these items was less at Mayfair than at most other leading supermarkets. And that's proof that food truly does cost less at Mayfair.

Homegrown Crops Taste Better, Cut Food Budget

There is no taste like the delicate sweetness of corn picked a few minutes before boiling it, or a sun-ripened, succulent tomato right off the vine. Home-grown crops save money, garden-ripened fruits and vegetables taste better, and families eat more of these vitamin-rich foods when a supply is large and readily available.

These reasons, plus the unequalled satisfaction of sowing, growing, and harvesting crops, justify growing your own food.

The reason behind the difference in taste, texture, and value of supermarket compared with homegrown produce is that produce does not travel well. Yet it takes several days in transit from the farmer to the supermarket.

Vegetables and fruits should be eaten right after harvesting to capture their peak of nutrition and flavor.

Book tells how

This spring many home gardeners will strive to improve the quality of produce by setting out with spade and hoe to cultivate their own vegetable patch.

"How To Grow Your Own Vegetables," written by Michael Kressy for Creative Home Library in association with Better Homes and Gardens, was published this spring.

Divided into three basic sections, the book is designed to guide the gardener with basic facts he needs to launch his own vegetable and bush fruit garden.

The first section, "Planting Time -- The Ground-work," discusses vegetable gardening in general, including types of soil, tools, compost, mulch, watering, weeds, diseases, and helpful, as well as harmful, insects.

Section Two, "Individual Crops -- A Practical Guide to Growing Them" will become well-thumbed by the gardener.

Separate entries are listed for popular vegetables, bush fruits, and herbs with such necessary information for each as hardiness of the plant, varieties, when to plant, how to space rows and plants and how deep to plant seeds.

"After the Harvest," the last section of the book, tells the gardener what to do with his homegrown yield.

Basic cooking methods for fresh produce are discussed.

Brewers Offer Free Cookbook

"The Secret Ingredient in Cooking" is a 48-page color illustrated cookbook published by the U.S. Brewers Assn., Inc. This book uses recipes which have as their base convenience foods that are available almost anywhere in the United States. The use of convenience foods eliminates long cooking time and high oven temperatures. Convenience dishes require less preparation and less valuable leisure time spent over the stove.

"The Secret Ingredient in Cooking" doesn't stop at using beer in food preparation. It also provides a handy guide to storing and serving beer as a beverage for vacation, meals, and parties. It tells exactly how much beer to buy for a party and the proper chilling temperature for beer.

Consumers Win—Food Labeling

Consumer demand for nutrition information has resulted in several new food labeling regulations recently released by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

By summer many foods will have new labeling with nutrition information. FDA has proposed a Dec. 21, 1974 deadline for full compliance for all foods shipped interstate commerce.

"Nutrition labeling is voluntary for most foods," states University of California Home Advisor Sharon Higgins, "but a product must have nutrition labeling if it is fortified by one or more nutrients, or if a nutritional claim is made in the labeling or advertising."

"Fortification includes enriched bread or flour, fortified milk or fruit juices, and diet foods. A nutritional claim may be any reference to a nutrient, to protein, fat, carbohydrate, calories, vitamins, minerals or use in dieting," adds Mrs. Higgins.

"Unprocessed dairy foods, fresh bakery goods, and most fruits, vegetables and meat are not affected by the FDA regulations," she said.

However, if claims of nutritional benefit are used to advertise a product, the product must have nutrition labeling.

New nutrition label format will include: serving size, servings per container, calories, protein, carbohydrate and fat.

"The percent of daily needs for protein, vitamin A, vitamin C, thiamine, riboflavin, niacin, calcium and iron will be given.

A proposed U.S. Recommended

Daily Allowance (U.S. RDA) will be the new Standard, replacing the Minimum Daily Requirement (MDR), the Los Angeles County Home Advisor said.

U.S. RDA's have been proposed for each of three groups: 1) adults and children, 4 or more years old, 2) infants and children under 4 years old, and 3) pregnant or lactating women.

Nutrition information may include the cholesterol and fatty acid (polyunsaturated and saturated fat) content of a food. This information will help individuals who, on the advice of a physician, are modifying their total dietary intake of fat and/or cholesterol.

A good diet must include a wide variety of foods containing about 50 different nutrients.

Creamy Dressings Give Flavor Lift To Basket Salad

Picture a hanging basket filled with fresh garden vegetables... crisp greens, juicy tomato, crunchy cucumber, crunchy pepper, nippy radish and topping it off, flavorful Monterey Jack cheese and strips of ham. It's a great salad lunch for a warm summer day. Or serve smaller portions of it for a satisfying first course dinner salad. But even with the best of ingredients, salad is just so so without the right dressing. The home economists for the California milk industry have come up with two creamy dressings and some quick cheese biscuits to give a flavor lift to your super salad for June is Dairy Month.

The sour cream and chive dressing is by no means a new flavor combination. Extra additions of vinegar, horseradish, mustard and salt add zip to make it just right for the garden salad. It's good on fruit salads too. The watercress cream dressing is a more unusual combination of flavors and appeals to adventuresome palates. This one is done in the electric blender using equal parts of yogurt and cottage cheese along with its own built in oil and vinegar dressing. Green onion, watercress and a bit of basil give this a tantalizing good flavor. It's a perfect choice for all kinds of vegetable salads.

Yogurt, sour cream and cottage cheese belong in your repertoire of good dressings. Yogurt and sour cream are cultured products. Under carefully controlled conditions a culture of selected microorganisms is added to warm pasteurized milk or cream as the case may be for the end product. When the right degree of acidity has developed the product is refrigerated immediately to stop the growth of the culture. Cottage cheese is also cultured but in a different way with pasteurized non fat milk. It's a fresh unripened cheese.

Watercress Cream Dressing Tear lettuce into bite size pieces. Combine in a large salad bowl with green pepper, cucumber, tomato and green onion. Toss together lightly. Top with clusters of Monterey Jack cheese and ham strips. Offer choice of Sour Cream and Chive Dressing.

SOUR CREAM AND CHIVE DRESSING
1 cup dairy sour cream 1 tablespoon vinegar 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish 1 tablespoon freeze dried or freshly snipped chives 1 teaspoon prepared mustard 1/2 teaspoon salt

Blend all ingredients. Serve with fruit or vegetable salad. Makes about 2 cups.

WATERCRESS CREAM DRESSING

1 cup plain yogurt 1/4 cup salad oil 2 tablespoons vinegar 1 cup creamed small curd cottage cheese 1/4 cup chopped green onion 1 cup watercress, coarse stems removed, washed and dried 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/8 teaspoon pepper 3/4 teaspoon basil

Combine yogurt, oil, vinegar and cheese in electric blender. Whir until smooth. Add remaining ingredients and whir until smooth. Chill. Serve with green salad, chef's salad, mixed vegetable salad etc. Makes 2 1/2 cups.

HOT CHEDDAR BISCUITS

1/2 cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese 2 cups biscuit mix 1/2 cup cold milk Mix cheese, biscuit mix and milk with fork to make dough. Add 1 tablespoon more milk if dough seems too dry. Drop by spoonfuls onto baking sheet. Bake in 450 degrees oven 10 minutes or until baked through and golden. Serve warm. Makes about 1 dozen biscuits.

RICE PIZZA

Crust:
2 quarts cold cooked rice
1/2 cup butter, melted
4 eggs, beaten

Sauce:
1 (303) can tomatoes, diced
1 (6 oz.) can tomato paste
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
1 clove garlic, finely minced
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Filling:
3 cups small curd cottage cheese
1 cup sliced ripe olives
1/2 pound cheddar cheese, grated

1/4 cup finely chopped parsley
Combine ingredients for the crust and pat into a 15" X 12" X 1" pan. Press some of the rice up the sides of the pan to make an edge to hold in the filling. Bake at 350 degrees about 10 minutes or until the center is set. Combine the undrained, diced tomatoes with the remaining sauce ingredients. Spread over the rice crust.

Drop small spoonfuls of cottage cheese over the sauce. Sprinkle olives over the cottage cheese. Cover with Cheddar cheese. Return to oven and bake at 350 degrees about 20 minutes or until center is bubbly. Remove from oven and allow to set 10 minutes. Sprinkle with parsley.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Hollywood Bowl Box Office Opens June 4

Film Making Course Being Offered In SB

For the first time, California State College, San Bernardino, is offering a summer course in film making.

Joseph Moran, assistant professor of art, will teach the two-unit class, which is given over a period of three weeks, July 10 through July 20, on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 10:20.

Beginning, intermediate and advanced students may enroll as each person works independently as well as participating in a class project.

Emphasis is on creativity and the student is able to develop his own ideas in the lightly-structured class, according to Professor Moran.

The advanced student, who might already have a great command of technical knowledge, could benefit through learning what is interesting visually, the instructor said.

Summer session classes, offered through the Office of Continuing Education, are open to any interested adult. Formal admission to the college is not required.

Registration is June 18. However, those interested may apply by mail before June 11. Cost is $18 per quarter unit.

Tickets for the Hollywood Bowl's season of summer concerts featuring the Los Angeles Philharmonic will go on sale beginning June 4 at the Bowl box office.

Tickets will be available not only for all 30 concerts of the regular 10-week Bowl Summer Festival '73 season which opens Tuesday July 10 with an all-Beethoven program conducted by Eugene Ormandy, but also for the special preseason and postseason events, and the three Marathons.

The preseason week begins with a Fourth of July Fireworks Picnic Concert which will feature Ralph Story as narrator in two works that tickle the musical fancy of those who are children by chronology and those who are children at heart—“Tubby the Tuba” and “The Young Person’s Guide to the Orchestra.”

This event and two of the three Bach/Mozart concerts that fill out the pre-season week are to be directed by David Zinman, the Europe-acclaimed American conductor who has been appointed music director of the Rochester Philharmonic.

The final preseason concert on July 7 will be devoted to a performance of Bach’s B Minor Mass conducted by Roger Wagner.

The Bowl’s unique Marathon Concert concept continues this year with three events, directed again by Lukas Foss. Seats—all unreserved—are $1.50, concert time is 6:00 p.m. to midnight.

Grads To Celebrate At Disneyland

Nearly 9,000 seniors from 26 San Bernardino County high schools will journey to Disneyland this June to celebrate commencement at one of the Park’s seven all-night Grad Parties.

From 11 p.m. to 5 a.m. on June 1, 7, 8, 12, 13, 14, and 15, Disneyland will honor a total of 100,000 graduates representing 600 schools from California, Arizona, Nevada, Hawaii, Idaho and Oregon.

This year’s “Grad Nite” promises to be the most exciting in the event’s 12-year history.

For these seven special evenings, reserved exclusively for graduates from participating high schools and their dates, will be among the first of many activities scheduled by the Park this summer to mark the 50th Anniversary of Walt Disney Productions.

And for this momentous occasion, Disneyland will sparkle with some of the biggest names in the recording industry, playing for listening and dancing.

Grad Nite audiences can enjoy the popular sounds of Rick Nelson and The Stone Canyon Band, The New Seekers, Cornelius Brothers and Sister Rose, and The Heywoods performing on various stages.

In addition to these entertainment specials, celebrants are treated to unlimited use of all Park adventures and attractions, except shooting galleries, for the price of a single admission ticket.

Included is Disneyland’s newest addition, “The Walt Disney Story,” a dramatic tribute to the life and accomplishments of Walt Disney, which opened just two months ago.

Also available are a variety of photo locations where students can capture the evening’s memories with a special souvenir color picture.

Tickets at $9 each are sold in advance at all participating schools through senior class representatives. None are available at Disneyland ticket booths.

Along with the seniors, each school sends one chaperone for every 20 students. The adult guests are admitted to the festivities without charge.

A party in every sense of the word, Grad Nites are dressed up occasions for everyone. Gentlemen wear coats and ties while ladies are attired in party dresses or pantsuits.

One of the world’s largest commencement celebrations, the Park’s Grad Nites have currently played host to more than 725,000 graduates.

FUN-FILLED TICKET — Representatives for San Bernardino County’s 9,000 high school seniors celebrating their graduation at Disneyland receive their super-sized Grad Nite tickets from King Leonidas near the Park’s “It’s A Small World” attraction. These students from 17 San Bernardino County high schools were at Disneyland recently for a planning meeting on the Park’s Grad Nite event. More than 100,000 seniors will attend Disneyland’s seven all-night graduation parties during June.

CRIME IN THE STREETS is one of today's most pressing problems, also the most publicized. It is activated by the drug addict who has to support the world's most expensive addiction habit. A recent poll shows that ONE OF THREE persons today has been a crime victim: mugged or robbed.

So the crime problem becomes a very personal problem.

The only way to curb these criminal acts is to adhere to the advice of your law enforcement officials; get involved in reporting all incidents and give complete cooperation to local police. YOU can help! DO YOUR PART to help conquer crime in America!

Upland Tennis Players Hold Endurance Marathon

Three Upland tennis players earned nearly $1,000 for the American Cancer Society during a 30 hour tennis marathon May 19.

Eric Gosswiller (15), his sister Kari (12) and Scott Goble (15) finished their endurance contest at 3 p.m. on a court at Upland Junior High.

The idea of a tennis marathon began in mid-April when Erik, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Gosswiller of Upland, and his friend Barron McNulty were talking about breaking records. They decided to attempt breaking the 17 hour 3 minute world record for continuous doubles play, but Eric felt the effort should be for a good cause. They chose the American Cancer Society in memory of Erik and Kari's grandmother, Peggy Duque, who died this year of cancer.

Erik's cousin, Tai Martin of Claremont, was recruited to complete the foursome. Some individuals pledged a certain amount per hour of play and others made set pledges if the record was broken.

The young players went onto the courts of the Pomona Valley Tennis Club in Upland under the lights at 4 a.m. May 18. With daylight they switched to the Upland Junior High courts. At 8:30 Saturday morning Jack Howard took over for one of the boys as an adult "substitute." He played steadily until 4:30 a.m. Sunday. The foursome switched back to the lighted courts Saturday night. It's estimated more than 2,000 games were played, though it was impossible to keep track of sets.

Mounties Take 4th In Finals

Mt. San Antonio College finished fourth behind champion City College of San Francisco Saturday night in the state community college track and field championship held in Bakersfield.

San Francisco was a surprise winner in 75 degree weather, scoring 45 points to our distance the field, L.A. City (36), Bakersfield (29) and MSAC (26) filled out the next three places. Grossmont and Foothill tied for fifth with 24 points. Chaffey and Citrus finished well back in the field.

MSAC, turning in its best performance in five or six years in the state meet, gained two seconds, a third, fourth and a seventh in racking up the 26 points.

Pole vaulter Al Sandoval, one of the favorite in the event, had to settle for second with more misses at 16 feet than winning Dan Ripley of Cypress.

MSAC tied a school record in the 440 relay with a 41.0 clocking to get second behind L.A. City's 40.8. Anchorman Sam Jenkins was nipped at the wire after leading on the final leg. Jenkins, however, captured third place in the 220-yard dash in another deadheat. Second place went to Dave Thomas of L.A. City who clocked an identical 21.5. San Francisco's Will Wilder was first in 21.3.

Ken Carter scored for the Mounties in the long jump, gaining fourth with a leap of 23-2 3/4. San Diego City's Mike Shaw won the event.

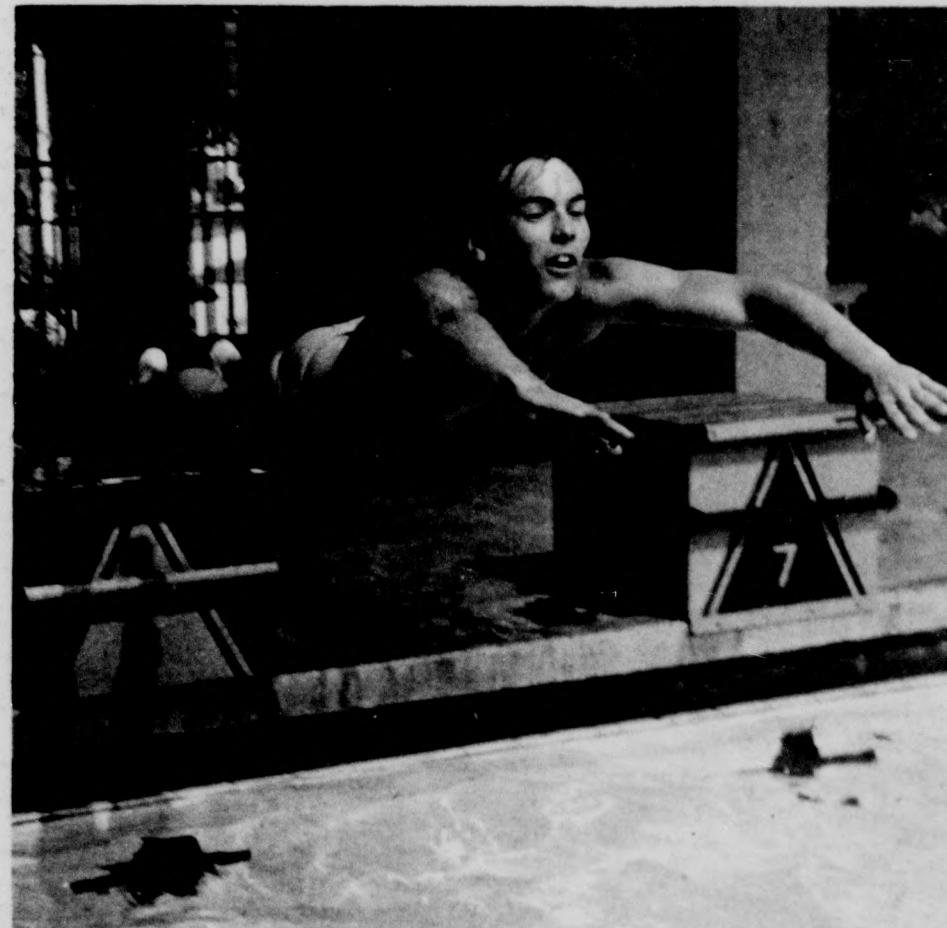

In the triple jump Teddy Farmer leaped 44-9 for a seventh place behind winner Dale Creys of Foothills, who soared 49-3.

In an upset, Chaffey's Keith Goldie was unseated as state javelin champion, finishing second with a throw of 225 feet 3 inches to Fullerton's Wayne Gorman who threw 230-6. Citrus' Jeff Russell was third at 200-3 and Steve Jarvis was sixth for the Owls with a 196-7 throw.

Richard Walker of Citrus took second in the mile run, a fast finish that was led by Delta's Al Buenrostro who clocked 4:07.5. Walker was timed in 4:08.1.

Chaffey's defending champion mile relay team was a disappointing fifth in its race and anchorman Dave Alexander was off the pace in the 440 run with a fifth place finish in 49.0.

Two state records tumbled as Bill Hayney sped to a 52.4 clocking in the 440 hurdles and Grossmont's Ed Mendoza captured the three mile run in 13:46.5.

MONTCLAIR AQUATICS CLUB -- The club will sponsor an AAU swim meet at Chaffey High School June 2 and 3, beginning both days at 9 a.m., and ending at 5 p.m. Pictured is Dale Cockrell, also a Montclair High School swimmer. He has records in the butterfly, 50 yard freestyle, 100 yard freestyle and individual medley.

Tired of climbing food prices? Grow your own. And you don't need acreage. Tuck those carrots — or cucumbers or radishes or whatever — into the nooks and crannies of your yard. Even window boxes are going vegetarian. Many cost-conscious consumers are hoping that a green thumb makes dollars as well as sense.

Will 25 Cents Buy You A Summer Of Carrots?

With food prices high and still climbing, one of the best investments a family can make is a 25-cent package of vegetable seeds. One packet of carrot seeds will grow enough to feed a family of four all summer long. And although there are other reasons for gardening, such as freshness, flavor, and freedom from pesticides, the strongest incentive right now is the price of food.

During the '40's vegetable plots were called Victory Gardens, and then in the '60's everyone was into organic gardening. Now we have the Economy or Inflation Plot. But whatever you call it, the small family vegetable patch is sprouting up all over, especially in urban areas.

Families with plenty of land have no problems, but these are rare. Those with no space, however, are resorting to the old American custom of make-do.

There are gardens on the garage roof, under the breezeway, around the swings and hanging from the eaves as well as in pots and window boxes.

The idea that vegetables must be planted in tidy rows is no longer essential. Precise, geometric beds are a thing of the past. It's even possible to grow vegetables without a garden, according to some of the new experts. There are books and brochures and radio programs to tell you how.

The main thing that is different is that there's no need to have the vegetable garden as one unit, anymore. Fine, if you have a sizable spot. But if not, narrow strips and patches of ground can be put to use easily.

"A vegetable garden doesn't have to be a square patch or a round circle in order to produce," says Jerry Baker, one of the new breed of garden teachers. "Mix the vegetables in with the flowers—they'll love it."

"Plants are like people. They're marvelous mixers," he said one day this spring, when he dropped into the office to chat.

"Tuck your radishes in under the evergreen shrubs. I do," he said. "A few bush beans or beets will enjoy growing in a row along the driveway. And carrots look great with their green fernery as a border for zinnias or bachelor buttons."

Baker has both radio and television shows on gardening. He's recently formed a research organization called the American Gardening Institute, and he's written a series of books called the "Make Friends Series" (Simon & Shuster, $1.95). They are concerned with making friends with roses, and with your vegetable garden, lawn, annuals, fruit trees, evergreens, and garden covers.

Plants need affection as much as they need attention, according to Baker's theory. He has a rule of thumb that guarantees a green thumb which says a gardener must have "pride, persistence, and patience."

Another believer in planting food in every available nook and cranny is television actor Glenn Ford who grows fruits and berries around his swimming pool and has his front lawn covered with strawberry plants.

Space is the big problem for most city dwellers and "mini-gardens" have been the subject of countless books and articles. Perhaps the most popular one is a free brochure put out by the U. S. Department of Agriculture called "Minigardens for Vegetables, Home and Garden Bulletin No. 163." It's available by writing to the Department of Agriculture, Office of Information, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Other books and magazine articles tell how to feed a family of four all summer on gardens of a certain size. They also show diagrams and directions for making boxes, planting tubs, old wooden barrels, and other containers, in which midget vegetables can be grown.

Most all seed catalog showed a generous number of seeds for midget vegetables this year. Available are midget watermelons to better fit your refrigerator, midget corn on the cob, dwarf modern cabbage, Tiny Tim tomatoes, Tom Thumb lettuce and midget cucumbers, to name a few.

Another way to reap big harvests from small space is to plant climbing vegetables such as cucumber, squash, and melons, so they'll grow vertically instead of horizontally.

They will climb up a fence or trellis, homemade step-ladder or maypole, using considerably less space than if they grew along the ground in the usual manner.

They also will climb just as happily up the side of your garage, over your breezeway or on an old rose trellis or arbor, if these are the only areas you can find for the purpose.

A large seed company, Northrup King, has figures out that one 25-cent package of cucumber seeds will supply you with at least 50 cucumbers. This means a saving of $4.75, figuring that you might buy them in the supermarket at 10 cents each.

Cucumbers also can be grown in a barrel to save space, that is, if you can find enough soil to fill it.

You'll need more than the edge of a walkway, however, if you want to grow sweet corn -- a vegetable that many gardeners believe justifies any amount of juggling or lawn grabbing for the pleasure of eating it freshly cut.

A single row won't pollinate well, so room is needed to make it worthwhile. There are several midget types, however, and many gardeners think it's well worth the cost of one pack, to have just a couple of good batches of corn straight from the garden.

Of course there's no limit to what a new gardener can spend if he gets "hooked" on some of the new gadgets and gimmicks. Expensive tools and tractors will soon eat up the big savings from that 25-cent package of seeds.

There are new and fancy gimmicks galore from Gro-lamps for tender seeds, to compressed pellets that expand in water, peat pots that can be planted along with the seedling, seed tapes that make sure you sow the seeds evenly spaced, and little sticks, each impregnated with a seed, that need only be stuck into the good earth.

There also are soil substitutes and synthetic soils that are clean, easy to use, and are free of weeds and harmful organisms. A big advantage of these soils too, is that they are lightweight; easy to use in tubs or boxes that might need to be moved to follow limited sunlight.

Plans and designs for some new gardens look more like a wood-working course than a back-to-nature project. But never mind, they produce.

Gourmet gardeners, who often have some garden experience, are ready to try new and exotic varieties, and are an offshoot of the organic group. They're interested not only in absolute, untainted freshness, but also in unusual varieties such as shallots, flageolet beans, lovage, or snow peas, that they can't find in local stores.

This is risky planting for the amateur, but it's exciting. Nothing gives the grower a greater feeling of independence than learning he's under no obligation to take the word of a neighbor who insists that Big Boy tomatoes or Golden Bantam corn are the best.

The fun of gardening for the gourmet is in being able to recognize the subtle differences in varieties of the same vegetable and in discovering them for himself.

Then there are the tomato lovers, who, even though space is limited always try a few new varieties each year, checking the early spring seed books and comparing the length of the long-maturing Beefsteaks (96 days), and Ponderosas (95 days), with the quicker growing Earliana (66 days) and the Fireball tomato (60 days).

Another gourmet gardener might show you his plot with 20 or more varieties of beans -- from Montezuma red beans, the same bean grown by Indians when Cortez discovered Mexico, found in tombs 3,000 years old -- to soy beans, fava beans, limas, and Kentucky Wonders.

A gardener also might be comparing the Chantenay and Danvers carrots from the supermarket with his home-grown French ones called "touchon" or the tiny Dutch carrots called "su-cram" which means sweet.

United States seed companies have rapidly become more diversified in the number of varieties of seeds they carry. A few years ago the big concern was with mass market selling. You got your seeds from hardware and grocery store seed racks.

Today it's different. Although I sent to France and England this year for catalogs with special items such as the flageolet bean, mini marrows and Oriental vegetables, I discovered later they were available from several U.S. companies.

Nichols Garden Nursery, Albany, Ore.; Harry Saier of Dimondale, Mich., Burpee's and a few others make a point of importing European and Oriental varieties that will grow here.

Once you start getting the handsome brochures from companies such as Thomson & Morgan in England and Georges Delbard in France, you'll find yourself eyeing every vacant lot you pass with an eye to expanding your garden plot one way or another next year.

Although four or five hours a week is adequate to maintain a garden the size of the Fenway plots, most of these gardeners spend twice as much time putting and perfecting their plants.

But no garden group or even the new experts will object to exploding the myth of the green-thumb magic.

Gardening means physical work, with a peasant's tools. And there are some people who have an aversion to this kind of labor. Gardening, even to save money, is not for them.

But for people with enthusiasm for getting close to the land, it's pleasant, relaxing, and it will help you enjoy very good savings on the food budget this summer and fall.

We're not giving away hyraxes this week.

H is for hyrax.

This rabbit-sized animal is actually the closest relative to the elephant, and has been described as a zoological puzzle. Various portions of the hyrax skeleton and mandible teeth have much in common with the corresponding parts of the rhinoceros and hippopotamus. The fossil record suggests that horses, tapirs, rhinos, hippo and elephants had a common ancestor, and some believe the hyrax to be closely associated with the living day-hunting species of hyrax found throughout Africa. They fall into two categories—the rock and the tree hyraxes. References to these animals as "conies" are found in the Bible.

Air Pollution Will Be Discussed Today

San Bernardino County Assemblyman Jerry Lewis announced further progress on his proposal to move the legislature to the South Coast Air Basin for one month this summer to study the problems of air pollution on a face-to-face basis.

The proposal will be heard Thursday, May 31 in the Assembly Rules Committee and is the first hurdle toward final passage of the resolution. Lewis announced that leaders from San Bernardino, Riverside, Los Angeles, and Orange Counties were expected to testify at the hearing, in addition to testimony from a pollution expert.

"It's important that we drive home to the legislature the need for increased funding for air pollution research and control. We need to crystallize the pollution crisis in the minds of the people and the lawmakers," Lewis said.

Several potential meeting sites are being considered by supporters of the bill, among them Riverside, Pomona and downtown Los Angeles. Some critics of the bill have charged that the costs of such a move would be excessive.

"We believe that we have a package put together that will be significantly below the original figure given by the Legislative Analyst. If, through my proposal, we can impress upon the legislature the seriousness of our problem, then I believe that this relatively small cost will be justified in more responsible state action against pollution."

Mayor Ben Lewis of Riverside, Supervisor Norton Younglove of Riverside County and Supervisor Nancy Smith of San Bernardino County are already committed to testifying, and it is hoped that Supervisor Pete Schabarum of Los Angeles County and a leader from Orange County will also be able to attend. Testimony will point to the need each community sees for more work against air pollution.

HAIR SLAVES, GO FREE!

Rid yourself of the Purgatorial agony of dryers, of the medieval shackles of metallic roller heads and the cotton candy teased tortured look. Let me emancipate you with pure scissor styling, that gives you freedom and freshness. Our lamp cuts, blower cuts, wash and wear, are for this era. Good for any age, any hair. Also, No-Set Permanent Wave. No rollers and no pins. You may never have to set your hair again. The natural potential that every head of hair has its message to reveal to one who can hear it. I am that stylist. A little bit better than the very best!

It's Your Money

by Paul G. Ling
Asst. Vice President
Manager Crocker Bank

Q: I am 18 years old and just got a job recently. The first thing I want to do is learn to fly an airplane and earn a license. My parents say it's an expensive hobby to take up right now. Is it?

A: That's relative. It depends on your income, financial obligations and priorities for spending. Perhaps on a beginning salary, the $500 to $1,000 price tag to earn a private pilot's license is high. But you may consider it important enough to give up other things, which undoubtedly you would have to do. Just be sure you think it out in relation to your total expenses. Flying costs vary with the size of the plane in which you learn, local costs and number of hours of instruction you require to develop your skills. Contact a private airport that offers flying instructions and have them figure the costs for you. Before you invest, be sure it's what you want in the long run and not just a passing interest. Some schools offer trial flights in which, for a small charge, you actually control the plane, with the aid of an instructor. A few rides might give you an indication of whether your interest will last.

Q: We've just added a small room to our home which is to be our 10-year-old son's bedroom. The problem is, we exhausted our budget on construction and have little left for decorating.

A: You can decorate his room for very little if you theme it after his favorite hobby and use associated paraphernalia as decorative pieces. For instance, say he's a baseball enthusiast. Construct shelves on the wall which openly display his baseballs, mitts and bats. These, then, become part of the decorating scheme rather than a storage problem. Pictures of his favorite players can be framed or simply taped to the walls. Sporty patches, which sell for about $1, can be attached to his bedspread. A montage of baseball programs on a bulletin board can add a decorative touch. A baseball uniform, shoes and cap can hang on an old rack in part made from broken baseball bats. An old bookcase can be made into a trophy case. With a little imagination, I'm sure you can come up with dozens of ideas. And don't forget to get your son involved in the project. It will not only make him feel that the room is really his, but his ideas could prove better than yours.

For A Good Trip, Check Car

Getting the most out of your extended motor-trip means getting the best possible cooperation from your car.

Unless everything in your car works properly, points out the National Automobile Club, it will let you down in some way, might even stall on a lonely deserted road. And along might come an inattentive driver who unwittingly crashes into you for a sad ending to what started out as your happy vacation.

Without an engine tuned to concert pitch, you can't expect your car to give top performance. How can it with a sluggish engine, one that makes passing other cars difficult? If it's time for a tune-up, get the job done. Change the oil, have the transmission fluid as well as the water in the battery checked.

Without an efficient electrical system, you can leave yourself in the dark, can leave others in the dark about your driving intentions. Tend to the matter of keeping all your lights clean and better see to it that your radiator has enough water, that your fan belt is neither cracked nor frayed. And it might be a good idea to have that thermostat checked.

Without an efficient electrical system, you can leave yourself in the dark, can leave others in the dark about your driving intentions. Tend to the matter of keeping all your lights clean and ready to do your bidding. That includes your headlights, taillights, signal lights, parking lights, and license-plate lights. Don't forget, either, that both high beams and low beams need to be aimed right. Test them.

Without good brakes, you can't handle the tight squeezes that require quick stopping. Something's definitely wrong with your brakes if they chatter, screech, or pull. Have faulty brakes taken care of immediately and the master cylinder checked for leaks.

Without safe tires, you can lose control of your car. Your tires should have no cuts or tears. Check them to be sure. Replace bald tires. And the recommended inflation of your particular tires is extremely important. That goes for your spare too. Don't neglect such inflation. Do have the wheels properly balanced.

Europe Tour Announced For Los Angeles Philharmonic

The Los Angeles Philharmonic will make an extensive 6-week, 19-city tour of Europe (ending with concerts in New York) in the fall of 1974, announced Ernest Fleischmann, executive director.

The orchestra will play at several festivals and many important musical centers on the tour that extends from Sept. 2 to Oct. 13, 1974. Music director Zubin Mehta conducts all of the 32 scheduled concerts in seven different countries.

The tour opens in London's Royal Albert Hall where the Philharmonic appears in what is perhaps Europe's biggest festival, the BBC's famous Prom Concerts. There, Zubin Mehta conducts the orchestra in Bruckner's Eighth Symphony on Sept. 4, the 150th anniversary of the composer's birth.

In the most encompassing tour made by the orchestra since its world tour in 1967 under the auspices of the U.S. State Department, the Philharmonic will play in London, Lucerne, Montreux, Brussels, Louvain, Ghent, Berlin, Hamburg, Bonn, Frankfurt, Venice, Milan, Stresa, Vienna, Linz, Zurich, Basel, Bern, Geneva, and finally New York City.

International Music Festivals included in the tour are those of Lucerne, Montreux, Berlin, Stresa, Venice, as well as the Beethoven Festival in Bonn (Beethoven's birthplace), and the Festival of Flanders. (This will be the ninth tour the Philharmonic has made with Mehta since he became music director in 1962.) After the world tour in 1967 they toured the eastern U.S.; they returned to the East Coast in 1970 for a tour which was highlighted by the orchestra's invitational appearance for the United Nations General Assembly to celebrate the U.N.'s 25th anniversary. Mehta and the Philharmonic have also toured Japan twice -- in 1969 and in 1972. And they toured the western U.S. three times -- in 1965, 1968 and 1971.

Zubin Mehta has chosen a varied repertoire for the tour which includes, in addition to the Bruckner, symphonies by Beethoven (Nos. 7 and 8); Dvorak (No. 7); Ives (No. 1); as well as works by Schoenberg (Five Pieces for Orchestra, Op. 16); Elgar ("Enigma" Variations); Strauss ("Ein Heldenleben"); and Webern (Six Pieces for Orchestra, Op. 6). Overtures by Beethoven ("Leonore" No. 3) and Wagner ("Rienzi") will also be played, as well as any yet undecided contemporary American work.

The tour will take the Philharmonic to some of the world's most famous concert halls and opera houses, including the Royal Albert and Royal Festival Halls in London, the Palais des Beaux Arts (Brussels), Berlin's Philharmonie, the Beethovenhalle in Bonn, the Teatro La Fenice (Venice), La Scala (Milan), Vienna's Musikverein, the Tonhalle in Zurich, Victoria Hall (Geneva), and New York's Carnegie Hall.

Although Hollywood Bowl will have to do without the Philharmonic for the final weeks of the 1974 season, Bowl audiences will reap the benefit of a unique exchange arranged with the London

Symphony Orchestra which brings that organization to the outdoor amphitheatre the first week of September.

Coordinating the movements and engagements of the two orchestras is complicated, but tour synchronization that extends even to air travel has been worked out. For example, the same BOAC aircraft that takes the Los Angeles Philharmonic to London will bring the London Symphony Orchestra to Los Angeles. This reciprocal airplane procedure will facilitate travel for both orchestras, allowing seats to be removed to make room for instruments, thus avoiding the necessity for chartering an additional freight plane.

It is no small coincidence that the Los Angeles Philharmonic's executive director, Ernest Fleischmann, was for many years the London Symphony Orchestra's general manager; and that the London orchestra's principal conductor is Andre Previn, a renowned Hollywood citizen until he assumed his present post.

In addition to the London Symphony Orchestra, the Cleveland Orchestra under Lorin Maazel has also been invited to play at the Hollywood Bowl during the Philharmonic's absence in Europe.

Student Composers In College Concert Tonight

The concert, which is open to the public without admission charge, will feature student works completed this year in the composition class under the direction of Karl Kohn, professor of music.

The program will open with "Fantasy for Piano and Clarinet," by Patrick Gallagher of Claremont, junior music major. Gallagher and Linda Jaderberg of Homewood, Ill., a clarinetist from Harvey Mudd College, will perform the composition.

Three works will be presented by a mixed chorus of 13 voices from the Pomona College Glee Clubs, including a setting of Wilfred Owen's poem, "Futility," by Gallagher, and two compositions by Richard Leiter, an exchange student from Baltimore, Md., entitled "Little Country Dance" with a text by the composer, and a setting of Yeats' "The Second Coming."

The choral ensemble will be made up of sopranos Hellen Gelband, Bellport, N.Y., and Sue Breckenridge, Pasadena; altos Linda Heller, Denver, Colo., Mary Ann Dohn, Beverly Hills, and Janice Johnson, Seattle, Wash.; tenors Jim Klumpner, Oak Park, Ill., Geoffrey Mellor, Moncton, Thapke, Md., and Dean Stevens, San Jose, Costa Rica, and basses Jeff Elhai, Los Angeles, Rob Leggewie, Claremont, Ken Raffan, Oakland, and Alan Treibitz, Elizabeth, N.J.

Jeff Elhai's new "Suite" will be performed by Valari Elardi, Phoenix, Ariz., oboe; Edna Sugihara, College Station, Texas, flute; Stanley Sander, La Canada, clarinet; Jerri Taylor, Compton, bassoon; Nancy Miller, Cucamonga horn; Treibitz, trumpet; Bill Oakes, Escondido, trombone, and Jim Crisafulli, Los Angeles, percussion.

The program will end with three compositions by sophomore Suzy Blaustein of Baltimore, Md. Her "Composition in Black, White, and Golds" will be played by herself at the piano with Miss Miller on horn. "Songs of a Child," on poems by Jeanne Blaustein, will be sung by mezzo-soprano Linda Sandusky of Claremont, a junior music major, and accompanied by Judith Knowles, Scripps College flutist from Santa Monica, and Mark Emile of San Diego, violist and junior music major. The closing work will be Yeats' "The Second Coming," set this time as a "cantata brevis" for tenor and chamber ensemble sung by Klumpner with Miss Miller, horn; Ken Whaley, Atascadero, trombone; Mary Ann Campbell, Portland, Ore., cello, and Peter Hewitt, faculty member, piano.

The larger ensemble pieces on the program will be conducted by Professor Kohn.
